Fall Semester: Creighton University is planning to reopen campus and return to in-person courses for the fall semester. Because of concerns about a second wave of the virus during the traditional beginning of the flu season in late November or December, we are planning to both start and complete most in-person, on-campus learning earlier than in previous years.

In order to provide students with the same amount of instruction time, we plan to begin the semester early and forgo fall break. Fall semester classes will begin on August 17. The last day of classes will be November 17; final semester exams will begin November 19 and conclude at noon on November 25. There will be one break in the semester, for Labor Day, on September 7.

*Move-In: We will spread out move-in dates (August 12-15) and make other adjustments to lessen issues related to large gatherings as students move into the residence halls. Move-in dates and times will be assigned. Times and dates will be shared in mid-July, along with other important details about the process.
